AL JAMA-AH offers condolences to royal family

Queen Elizabeth II of the United Kingdom came of age in Cape Town and the people of District 6 and the Bo-Kaap flocked to the Grand Parade to celebrate while their invited heads of families sang Happy 21st Birthday in the City Hall.

This engendered great love for her by the local community at the time. Some remembered her birthday each year and she often acknowledged the kind birthday wishes in her royal way.

"She outlived many of her party guests including my grandmother Rabia Booley and my mother Ghairoonesa Booley. My family continued their tradition of admiration and love. Those still around like our friend District 6 celebrity and community worker; Toyer Levy will send a letter of condolence to the royal family. He will anxiously wait for acknowledgement of his letter to proudly hang against his dining room wall along with other acknowledgments from the royal family," says Al Jama-ah's leader and Member of Parliament, Hon Ganief Hendricks.

On behalf of its Constituency, AL JAMA-AH Party extends our condolences to her family and wish King Charles III a long life.
